Event Title: Financing a Just Transition in South Africa

PRESIDENTIAL CLIMATE COMMISSION

Recent developments in South Africa's political climate signal positive prospects for fast-tracking the decarbonisation process. More importantly, for South Africa to meet its climate change adaptation targets, it needs a just and inclusive transition – one that is anchored by honouring climate finance pledges and clear policy implementation framework. The Presidential Climate Commission (PCC) has played a crucial role in executing its mandate to advise the South African government on its climate change response and has been instrumental in driving mitigation and adaptation pathways to build a climate resilient economy and secure climate finance.

Through this interactive convening, the session aims to bring together climate finance field experts, development practitioners, PCC commissioners, and the private sector to share South Africa's experience as well as facilitate an exchange on the country's current mileage and upcoming hurdles on Just Transition Financing. The session will be guided by the following objectives:

- To inform the international community on the PCC's role on Climate Finance and leading the discourse on Just Transition Finance;
- To market South Africa as a low carbon investment destination; and
- To highlight South Africa's JETT proposal to the international community, as led by Eskom.

Speakers:

Moderator: PCC Commissioner, National Business Initiative CEO, Ms Joanne Yawitch

- Presidency of South Africa, Project Management Office, Rudi Dicks
- PCC Commissioner & Eskom Head of JT Office, Ms Mandy Rambharos
- PCC Commissioner and Industrial Development Corporation (IDC) Chief Operations Officer, Ms Joanne Bate
- Group Head: Environmental, Social and Climate Risk, First Rand Group Enterprise Risk Management, Ms Ronquest Madeleine.
- Group Executive: Project Preparation, Development Bank of Southern Africa, Ms Catherine Koffman.
